ENDORSEMENT OF JUSTICE J. DIETRICH:

- [1] The principals of the Debtors filed responding material on the afternoon of April 30, 2026. The Receiver's motion (which includes a declaration that the principals are in contempt of this Court's previous orders) was scheduled by endorsement dated February 12, 2026.
- [2] Under that endorsement, responding material were to be delivered no later than March 13, 2026. When the principals failed to file responding material by that date a further case conference was held before Justice Black on April 21, 2026. At that time, counsel for the principals expressed that if responding material were to be filed, they would contain no surprises. Accordingly, today's hearing date was maintained.
- [3] Based on the submissions of the Receiver today, however, the responding material does contain information which the Receiver was not previously aware of, it now needs to investigate and reply to that material.
- [4] Accordingly, the substantive hearing scheduled for today cannot proceed.
- [5] As noted in Justice Black's previous endorsement, time on this list is precious and not to be squandered absent exceptional circumstances. Filing of material in complete disregard to a court ordered timetable is not acceptable. Rather than address costs thrown away today, the Receiver has requested that costs of this adjournment be reserved to the hearing of the matter. In the circumstances, that is agreeable.
- [6] The matter that was to be heard at 10:00 am today is adjourned to a date to be scheduled at a 9:30 scheduling appointment on May 25, 2026. Aide memoire of no more than 3 pages are to be uploaded to case center for use at that hearing no later than May 21, 2026.
